if your child has cancer, you're probably familiar with the short-term effects of the disease and its treatment: pain, nausea, fatigue, skin rashes, and more